What is the "Mitarbeiter-PC-Programm"?

Joachim Ulbrich - 2024-10-04 - General questions

The Employee PC Programme (MPP) has been officially funded by the German government in 2006 as part of the ‘D-21 Initiative’ to drive forward digitisation in Germany with the collaboration of the business industry. In this context, you have the opportunity to acquire high-quality and up-to-date high-tech communication devices that you can use privately for all family members. This could be the latest smartwatch, a tablet with powerful graphics or a child-friendly PC, on average 30 per cent cheaper than the usual market price.

The purchase is made in monthly instalments through salary conversion. Delivery is made directly to your home. This makes purchasing your communication devices convenient and affordable.
